Docket No. 100340-TP

Filed: July 29, 2010

BLC Management, LLC's Motion to Quash Subpoena

BLC Management, LLC (BLC), pursuant to section 120.569(2)(k)1, Florida Statutes, rule 1.410(c), Florida Rules of Civil Procedure, and rule 28-106.212, Florida Administrative Code, hereby objects to and moves to quash the Commission Staff subpoena served on BLC on or about July 2, 2010. (Exhibit A).

Background

1. This docket was opened on June 28, 2010. A review of the docket file shows that Staff has filed two documents since the docket was opened. The first is a form entitled "Request to Establish Docket" in which Commission Staff requested that this docket be opened and be styled an investigation. There is no documentation accompanying the request and, in fact, the request states that supporting documentation will "be provided with the recommendation." Thus, no reason, justification or information is provided as to why Staff requests that an investigation be instituted.

2. The second document, filed the next day, is a request that a number of subpoenas be issued, requiring various companies to produce a vast array of documents on July 19, 2010. The subpoena to BLC is the subject of this motion.¹

¹ Similar, though not identical, subpoenas were issued to other companies and similar motions to quash are filed simultaneously herewith.

3. Neither of these documents provides any information as to what the subject of the investigation is or what Commission Staff thinks may be at issue. Given the breadth of the subpoena, it is impossible to tell what Staff is attempting to investigate.

4. Upon receipt of the subpoena, legal Staff was contacted regarding the subject of the investigation, in an attempt to narrow the requests and resolve any issues with which Staff may be concerned. However, Staff preferred to proceed with the subpoena and BLC is still unaware of what the explicit subject matter of the investigation is.

Relevance and Scope of A Subpoena

5. A subpoena is not a blanket vehicle by which to request a broad and vast array of documents which are not tied in any way to matters at issue in a proceeding. However, that appears to be exactly what Commission Staff has done with the subpoena served on BLC. This is impermissible and thus, the subpoena must be quashed in its entirety.

6. Information sought in a subpoena must be relevant and cannot be unreasonable or burdensome. This standard is clear from the applicable rules and statutes. For example, section 120.569(2)(k)1, Florida Statutes, addresses the issuance of subpoenas in administrative proceedings. It states that a subpoena should be quashed if the subpoena is “unreasonably broad in scope, or requires the production of irrelevant material.” The subpoena at issue here is both unreasonably broad and requires the production of irrelevant material.

7. Similarly, rule 1.410(2)(c), Florida Rules of Civil Procedure, provides that a subpoena should be quashed if it is unreasonable or oppressive. The subject subpoena, as demonstrated below, is both.

8. Florida case law describes the limits on subpoena power. A subpoena must be “properly limited in scope, relevant in purpose, and specific in directive,” in order not to be unduly burdensome.” Check ‘N Go of Florida, Inc. v. State, 790 So.2d 454, 460 (Fla. 5th DCA 2001), rev. denied, 817 So.2d 845 (Fla. 2002), quoting Dean v. State, 478 So.2d 38, 40 (Fla. 1985). Quoting the United State’s Supreme Court, the Check ‘N Go court counseled against “fishing expeditions” into private papers. Id. at 460. Further, in Check ‘N Go, the court stated:

A subpoena duces tecum may not lawfully require the production of a mass of books and papers, merely so that one may search through them to gather evidence; and an omnibus subpoena for all, or even a substantial part, of the books and records of the subpoenaed party is invalid.

Id. at 460, citations omitted. Staff’s subpoena fails to meet the necessary standards for a lawful subpoena as set forth above.

9. The United States Supreme Court has held that:

It is now settled that, when an administrative agency subpoenas corporate books or records, the Fourth Amendment requires that the subpoena be sufficiently limited in scope, relevant in purpose, and specific in directive so that compliance will not be unreasonably burdensome.

See v. City of Seattle, 387 U.S. 541, 544 (1967), footnote omitted, emphasis added. The Staff subpoena fails to meet this standard because, as described below, the subpoena is not sufficiently limited in scope or relevant in purpose.

10. BLC is extremely concerned with and objects to the expansive and overbroad nature of the documents sought in the subpoena which is the subject of this motion. Though this docket is styled as an “investigation,” BLC has no idea and has been not put on any notice as to what is being investigated. Fundamental requirements of due process mandate that BLC be put on notice of the specific subject matter of the investigation and any allegations related thereto. Otherwise, it cannot appropriately respond to the subpoena nor otherwise evaluate the materials being requested.

11. Instead, BLC has received an extensive subpoena request with no information as to what facts, claims or alleged violations Staff believes are at issue. BLC should not be required to produce reams of documents without being advised specifically as to what the Commission Staff thinks the subject matter of investigation is.

12. It is beyond dispute that subpoenas may only seek relevant information related to the merits of the inquiry. None of the requests in the subject subpoena can meet this basic standard. Because BLC has no idea what the Commission Staff is attempting to investigate or why, the scope and breadth of the subpoena cannot, on its face, meet the standard of relevancy required by statute and rule. Until it is clear what Staff thinks is at issue in this docket and puts BLC on notice of its concerns, none of the documents sought can be relevant to an undisclosed investigation.

13. Further, BLC can make no assessment as to the relevance of any of the documents sought. As just one example, in Request No. 6, Staff seeks state and federal income tax returns. These requests are in no way limited in scope or subject and because the subject of the investigation is not known, BLC does not have any way to assess Staff's requests. However, one thing is certain, BLC is not required to blindly produce documents in the face of an undesignated and undisclosed investigation.

14. At this point, the subpoena appears to be an overly broad attempt by Staff to access reams of documents which are not related to any problem or set of facts of which BLC is aware or on notice. Thus, as to each and every request in the subpoena, BLC objects on the grounds of relevance and overbreadth.

15. Finally, as described in detail below, it would cost BLC thousands of dollars to respond to this subpoena. Before such resources are expended, BLC is entitled to understand what the issues are which Staff seeks to review.

16. BLC is willing to work with Staff to provide relevant documents when it is appraised of and has an understanding of the nature of the inquiry in which Staff is engaged.

Place of Production

17. The subpoena directs that the documents at issue be produced at the Commission's offices in Tallahassee. BLC objects to the place designated for production as such records, to the extent they exist, are not located in Tallahassee. It would be burdensome and oppressive to transport them to Tallahassee. If any production does occur, after clarification of the matters at issue in this docket, such production should occur where the records are located. See rule 1.350(b), Florida Rules of Civil Procedure.

18. Each specific request is discussed below and incorporates paragraphs 1-17 above.

Request No. 1

19. In Request No. 1, Staff seeks specific and extensive customer information for customers in eight states and Florida. First, BLC objects to this request on the grounds that the Commission lacks jurisdiction to subpoena the documents pertaining to information outside of Florida. Commission Staff seeks a great deal of specific information regarding customers in Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. The Commission does not have jurisdiction over operations in states other than Florida nor the ability to request information as to customers outside its jurisdiction. This request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

20. Further, the request is overly broad and burdensome and oppressive. The request is burdensome as it would require extensive work on the part of BLC to collect and provide the information requested. To respond to this request would require BLC to contact its database vendor, request information, review all customer information collected, redact all CPNI information not related to Florida, prepare for hearing for objections, prepare a custom report for each required field pertaining to the information requested, prepare the report and review it for accuracy. This would take approximately 100 man hours at a total cost of approximately $3,500.00 plus costs from vendors and attorney fees. Such a request is particularly burdensome and oppressive in light of the lack of any connection of this information to the undisclosed purpose of this docket. The subpoena provides absolutely no justification for the requirement that BLC expend time and resources on a request that would encompass tens of thousands of customers.

21. BLC does not have any Florida LifeLine customers.

22. In addition, as noted above, the request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware.

23. Finally, BLC objects to producing the requested documents because documents concerning Lifeline matters, in Florida and outside Florida, are matters of federal law outside of this Commission's jurisdiction.

Request No. 2

24. Request No. 2 seeks copies of Florida Lifeline certification records for all Lifeline customers. BLC does not have any Florida Lifeline customers.

25. The request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware. This request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Request No. 3

26. Request No. 3 seeks copies of all notices sent to customers terminated for nonpayment. BLC does not have any Lifeline customers in Florida. This request is particularly burdensome and oppressive in light of the lack of any connection of this information to the undisclosed purpose of this docket. The subpoena provides absolutely no justification for the requirement that BLC expend time and resources on a request that would encompass thousands of customers.

27. The request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware. This request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Request No. 4

28. Request No. 4 seeks the names of customers who have moved from BLC to another company and a copy of the authorization request. As a preliminary matter, the request to compile a list of customers who have changed providers is not cognizable within a subpoena duces tecum without deposition which is a request to produce documents. This is not a proper request for a subpoena duces tecum.

29. BLC does not have any Florida Lifeline subscribers. Further, the entire request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware. This request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Request No. 5

30. Request No. 5 seeks a copy of all corporate minutes of BLC, including stockholder and Board of Director meetings. BLC objects to this request because it is over broad, oppressive and not limited in any way by subject matter. Again, since BLC does not know what is being investigated, it does not know what minutes, if any exist, might bear on the investigation. It is highly unlikely that all corporate minutes, if any, will have any bearing on this matter. Furthermore, BLC is a Tennessee limited liability company – under Tennessee law no meetings or minutes are required.

31. Further, as noted above, the entire request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware. This request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Request No. 6

32. Request No. 6 seeks BLC's federal and Florida state tax returns for the last two years. First, as with the other requests, BLC objects on the basis of relevance. There has been absolutely no showing made that BLC's federal and state income tax returns are relevant in any way to this proceeding.²

33. BLC further objects to this request as it is over broad, oppressive and harassing. No showing has been made as to what income tax returns might have to do with this matter and BLC vehemently objects to being required to produce such highly sensitive documents without a compelling showing from Staff that such documents are relevant to the matter at issue, which has yet to be identified.

34. Further, since BLC does not know what is being investigated, it does not know how or in what way its income tax returns might have any bearing on any matter within the Commission's jurisdiction. It is highly unlikely that such returns will have any bearing on this matter.

35. Last, as noted above, the entire request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware. This request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Request No. 7

36. Request No. 7 seeks information about BLC employees, officers, directors and owners. The request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware. This request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

37. BLC further objects because such information as to BLC employees, in particular, because it is irrelevant, unduly burdensome, not likely to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence, and an invasion of the privacy interests and rights of those employees.

Request No. 8

38. Request No. 8 seeks documents provided to underlying carriers certifying compliance with certain Commission requirements regarding Lifeline/Link Up programs. BLC objects as this request is overbroad and vague as it does not specify what "Commission requirements" are pertinent.

39. Further, Staff should already be in receipt of such information. The request is burdensome as it would require extensive work on the part of BLC to collect and provide the information requested. If BLC is to compile all of this information it would take considerable research and time to the effect of 100 or more man hours with the cost in the excess of $2,500.00. Such a request is particularly burdensome and oppressive in light of the lack of any connection of this information to the undisclosed purpose of this docket. The subpoena provides absolutely no justification for the requirement that BLC expend time and resources on a request that would encompass many documents.

40. In addition, this request appears to seek documents outside of Florida. If it does, such a request is beyond the Commission's jurisdiction.

41. Further, the request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware. This request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

42. Finally, BLC objects to producing the requested documents because documents concerning Lifeline matters are matters of federal law outside of this Commission's jurisdiction.

Request No. 9

43. Request No. 9 seeks all 499-A and 499-Q forms filed by BLC for the past two and one half years. The request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware. This request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

44. Further, the request appears to seek documents from outside of Florida. Such a request is beyond the Commission's jurisdiction.

45. BLC further objects to producing the requested documents because documents concerning the Universal Service Administrative Company, in Florida and outside Florida, are matters of federal law outside of this Commission's jurisdiction.

Request No. 10

46. Request No. 10 seeks copies of any outside auditor reports and opinions for the last year. BLC objects to this request as it is over broad, oppressive and in no way limited by subject matter. Again, since BLC does not know what is being investigated, it does not know what auditor reports or opinions, if any, and if any such reports exist, might bear on the investigation. It is highly unlikely that all such reports and minutes, if any, will have any bearing on this matter.

47. The request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware. This request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Request No. 11

48. Request No. 11 seeks copies of purchase agreements between other entities and BLC. This request is overbroad and oppressive as it is not limited in any way in time or scope.

49. Such a request is also objectionable because it seeks highly confidential proprietary business information which is irrelevant to any matters within the Commission's jurisdiction.

50. Further, the request seeks irrelevant information because it is not related to any facts or allegations of which BLC is aware. And, it is difficult to envision how such documents have any relevance or relation to any matter within the Commission's jurisdiction.

51. Finally, this request seeks information irrelevant to these proceedings and not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Conclusion

52. As described in detail above, the very broad requests contained in the BLC subpoena are irrelevant, overbroad, burdensome, oppressive and harassing. This is particularly the case in light of the fact that BLC has not in any way been apprised of the subject matter which the Commission Staff seeks to investigate. It is inappropriate for a subpoena to be issued which has no relation to delineated matters under consideration by the Commission. Such a subpoena forces the entity receiving the subpoena to guess at what the subject matter of concern may be and violates fundamental due process rights to be apprised of allegations concerning it.

53. Nonetheless, BLC is committed to cooperating with the Commission Staff when it is apprised of and fully understands exactly what the subject matter of this docket is and can determine which documents pertain to such subject matter.

54. BLC further suggests that a meeting with Commission Staff would be a productive first step to understanding Staff's concerns, working with Staff to narrow the documents requested, and resolving any potential issues. BLC stands fully ready to participate promptly in such a meeting.

WHEREFORE, BLC requests that the Commission enter an order quashing the BLC subpoena in its entirety.
