I've been an FPL customer for 43 years, and all of my experiences have been positive. I've been through multiple hurricanes and seen their response, and their costs also always seem to be fair. At St. Thomas University where I work, FPL has helped and continue to support a Solar project which we have that is used to power some of our devices. That experience also led to St. Thomas students building a solar powered oven in some of the poorest parts of Haiti, that feeds over 400 people.

Overall I would say FPL is a good corporate citizen.
