Comments:

I am adamantly opposed to the FPL request for a billion dollar rake hike to build fracked natural gas power plants. We should ONLY be promoting renewable energy to meet any growing power needs and should be working toward DECREASING our carbon footprint in Florida. We do not need to be promoting the fracked natural gas industry, which in itself is harmful to the environment. For a billion dollars, they should be able to build or import enough solar/wind or newer technology renewables (wave energy).
