Subject: Teco Gas Increase

At a time when natural gas prices remain at historic lows, the lowest in the last 30 years according to:

<https://www.macrotrends.net/2478/natural-gas-prices-historical-chart>

the rate increase request from Teco is unfounded. As costs for utilities go down, so should the consumer's bill. Couple this with the larger macro-economic issues related to the pandemic and it further underscores the reason why a rate increase is inappropriate at this time. This request should be denied and at the very least postponed until a time when economic conditions improve. Thank you for your consideration.
