Attention: Office of Commission Clerk

My brief comments: Basic Service Charge, increase approximately 40%; Energy and Demand Charge, increase approximately 26%; requested increase primarily due to associated depreciation.

I'm thinking the percentage increase appears to be unreasonable and the depreciation thing appears to be an accounting measure to improve their book value with major rate increases.

Hopefully y'all got a handle on this stuff.

Thanks for your time,

I wish to make a comment about Tampa electric seeking approval to raise our rates.

I live in Apollo Beach. The construction and the building has not stopped since I moved here three years ago. Hillsborough county is growing by leaps and bounds and it seems that our zoning board doesn't care if every single square inch of the entire state of Florida is built upon so that eventually we'll all just fall into the ocean before that we'll probably be stuck in traffic for days

My point is with all the new homes and the new businesses and all the new housing that has generated tons of new accounts and money for Tampa Electric how could they possibly be asking us to pay more? We pay enough as it is. 1 mile from here they are putting in 650 new homes that is 650 new customers in Apollo Beach they do not need nor do they deserve an increase in our rates. Every single thing has gone sky high gas food everything no one's going to be able to afford to survive anymore especially the elderly in Florida that live on fixed incomes like myself!

It's ridiculous and you need to deny their request for any increases until the state of our country improves drastically and that is not going to be for a very long time.

Thank you for your attention and for not trying to rape Tampa electric customers!

Sincerely

Vanessa Fournier
