Eric, Apologies for the delay.

Knology of Florida did not receive federal high-cost support last year nor anticipates any in the upcoming year. If another form of notification is needed, please let me know if another format is needed for us to comply with the request and I will get it to you ASAP.

Thank you.

Hi Yoly,

Sorry to hear about your family emergency.

For the 54.414 certification, provided that Knology received no high-cost support, all we need is an email from you stating that Knology received no federal high-cost support last year nor anticipates any in the upcoming year.

Carriers don't need certification if they have no support, but are still ETCs, so if they start receiving support in the future, can be certified then.
