I have been a customer of FPL for the past 38 years and through multiple hurricanes, many tropical storms and heat waves I have found FPL to be very responsive to any concerns I have had.

When I compare how much I pay for my electricity to relatives in other states, I am pleased with the value that FPL provides. Not only do they provide reliable service and good value, as a leader in this community I appreciate that FPL is a good community partner. Not only are they there when the storm rolls in (and more importantly when it rolls on out!) they are there to also support the many activities that make our community great.

Of course everyone wants lower rates, but in the end and after careful consideration I sincerely believe that FPL needs to be treated fairly just as it treats it's customers fairly when considering a rate increase.

Sincerely,
Lou Pontius
