Dear Mr. D'Haesleleer:

On June 12, 1998, Logix Communications Corporation ("Logix") and Zenex Communications, Inc. ("Zenex") entered into an Asset Purchase Agreement whereby Logix acquired some of the assets of Zenex, including Zenex's long distance customer accounts in your state. The transaction will benefit not only Logix and Zenex, but customers will benefit as well by lower toll charges and additional service options. Therefore, in October, Logix assumed and began serving Zenex's former customers.

Please note, this transaction is not a change of control of Zenex, nor is it a transfer of any of Zenex's certificates or tariffs; Logix only acquired assets of Zenex. After the sale, Zenex retained its previous corporate ownership, certificates of authority and tariffs, where applicable. Additionally, the assets acquired in your state by Logix accounts for less than 5% of Zenex's total assets.

Enclosed is a copy of the notice customers received that introduces them to Logix and explains the transaction. The notice provides the customer with the new Logix toll free customer service number, but they may still continue to use the same toll free customer service number previously used by Zenex. Hopefully the notice will answer any questions the customers may have, however, if they do have any questions or concerns, a customer service representative is available via the toll free customer service number. Should you or any other Commission representative have any customer service issues, please direct your inquiry to Mr. Matt Asmus, Vice President of Services, 100 Waugh Drive, Suite 200, Houston, TX 77007, Phone: 713-880-7248. All other Commission inquiries should be directed to my attention at the above address.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at (405) 391-8500 and I will be happy to assist you.

Sincerely,

John W. Gray, Jr.
