Dear Commissioner

It seems very wrong that FP&L is given an increase that allows stock holders a return on equity as high as 10.6%. My return on retirement funds is not that high, plus, neither Duke nor TECO get that much. In this time when so many people are having difficulty financially, it seems unwise to allow these increases. Also, when I pay dues to most organizations, they are accountable to me, a member for those funds. Why not have FP&L be accountable to customers for dues we pay? Please think about recent challenges for customers who use power, as well as those with less power who will not likely write you.

Thank you,

Abigail Walters
