Hello,

I am a concerned citizen who just saw you've applied for another rate increase. We are already drowning in bills so I would kindly ask you to reconsider. Perhaps you could have stayed in your old headquarters rather than building the very expensive new one?

We are also still reeling and very upset about the gigantic power pole you allowed to go in the middle of our front yard. We begged you to at least move it to the property corner but you said no. We were told all poles were coming down and instead we got a giant eyesore which we have to stare at every time we look out our front window. We are so sad about it and are certain none of your executives would allow this in their front yard.

I would appreciate a response to this message.

Sincerely,
Tracy Patterson.
