all I can see is this ending badly with high rate increases and no better service. Their hasn't been anything but patchwork done on the pipes for years instead of replacing things in order to save them money. Sun needs to invest some of their profit in replacing old pipes. We are expected to fix our properties up when they need updates, and we don't have the profits like they do.

So NO, I don't approve of a rate increase. They have taken our money and kept it instead of using some for replacement.
