Subject: Please protect utility customers from AI data center cost shifting

Dear Chairman Smith,

I am writing to urge the Florida Public Service Commission to protect utility customers from bearing the cost of AI data center expansion.

If high-demand AI facilities require new substations, transmission upgrades, or additional system capacity, those costs should be assigned to the projects creating the demand rather than spread across ordinary residential and small-business customers.

Please support a rate and infrastructure policy that keeps private AI development from becoming a public burden.

Respectfully,
Charles D. Dennis
